DocuWare Cloud Office automated solutions bring together smart digital workflow and document management to digitise, automate and sharpen the business processes that matter- so you can work without compromise and set the new pace for business. BESIGN

With BeSign and our unique biometric signature software, there's no reason for not being 100% paperless. BeSign offer the next generation of digital signatures. Our focus

Set the new pace for your business with document management and workflow automation in the crucial, document-centric processes that fuel your organization's success.DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION IN ANY DEPARTMENT

From manufacturing to retail, healthcare to government: organizations across the world are discovering the benefits of digital transformation.

The journey, milestones and rewards of digital transformation vary between leaders, teams and companies. Many start with the easiest step toward digitization: getting rid of paper. For some, it's decentralizing decision-making to mobile apps.

For others, it's process reinvention through analytics and big data.

The net results are the same: digital-first thinking, knowledge worker empowerment, secure automation, and enhanced business agility.GAIN NEW

VELOCITY IN FINANCE

At a moment's notice, finance must deliver key figures that show the company's market position as well as profitability and liquidity. This is only possible if the core processes of accounts payable and accounts receivable are executed securely and error-free.

Often, outdated paper and manual operations mean costs are recorded too late, approvals take too long, information must be pieced together from disconnected sources, and bookings can't be completed.

Our document management and workflow automation helps your company leap beyond these barriers by going paperless, centralizing valuable document and process knowledge in one system, and integrating it directly with your ERP for a truly complete information picture. ad minime dolore magna aliqua. SUPPORT

HR must make the best decisions at the most crucial times. Which candidate to hire? How can we ensure the onboarding process, with all the required forms, is efficient and thorough? How do we facilitate performance reviews, approve time-off requests, and store compensation and related tax and benefit information—all in a complete and secure manner?

Complete, secure, findable information is the only way to ensure smart decision-making.

DocuWare automates the capture of employee records, HR files, business documents, and other information into a single digital system. From here, staff can use rich workflow to effortlessly move information along defined, automated processes and enable clear decisioning at every step.
